

MILITARY TECHNOLOGY

Make no mistake about it. The U.S. military is the strongest and best in the world. Not only is it comprised of the toughest men and women, but it employs the best technology. Combined, these elements make the U.S. the world's premier superpower.

In Military Technology, a 116-page special issue from Engaged Media, readers will enter this phenomenal world, as they are taken behind the scenes to find out how the U.S. is getting stronger, faster, better and safer.

Stories include features on nuclear attack submarines; the next generation of Army helicopters and new technology; the high-mobility rocket; drones; and fast response cutters and C144s, which the United States Coast Guard will use in their law enforcement duties to stomp out crime. Plus, exclusive interviews with Rangers and SEALs will take the reader inside their elite world in which they discuss their gear, missions and more.

Military Technology. Read about our super power.
